

Booze but no cars

Safe grad plans

Student representatives from the graduating class at Frank Maddock High School in Drayton Valley have come out in favor of repealing the success story of many towns and cities in Alberta.

After a meeting last Monday with students, parents, Kinsmen, RCMP and representatives of DUTI, plans are going ahead to hold a grad bush party which will be chauffeured by the Kinsmen and the students will not have to bring their cars. The concept, originated by DUTI in Red Deer, is to keep the students from driving while impaired and getting killed or arrested.

All of the groups involved have voiced their support for the idea of not having grads drink and drive.

The Kinsmen will be arranging for buses to take the graduates to the party and to drive them home afterwards.

Don Leach, executive director of DUTI, told the students at a meeting last Monday to "put on a number-one, first-class party, from your point of view."

While the Optimists, who run the DUTI program, do not condone the use of alcohol they and the Kinsmen realize it is going to happen anyway and would rather make it safe for the kids who go to the party.

On Monday, the Edmonton Journal published a story which showed how on the same night, a Grad in Camrose was killed driving home after the party and in St. Albert 650 students had a party and no one had the same fate because they had implemented the plans being considered here.

Many of the people at the meeting at Frank Maddock were talking about the story, and Leach pointed out DUTI had approached the Camrose school, and were turned down.

Corporal Chris Lee of the Drayton Valley RCMP said they will not hassle anyone at the party, but anyone found driving impaired outside of it is "fair game."

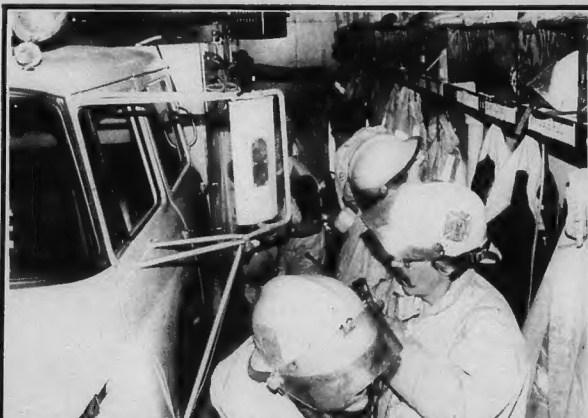

Also at the meeting was Mark Lindlay, who graduated from Lindsay Thurber High School in Red Deer and was one of the first DUTI-style grads. At his party, there were 18 barrels of beer and 450 people. Lindlay said "It was great. Good party...I don't think anyone regretted it."

Leach pointed out it would be next to impossible to mix the same amount of beer and that many adults, and not have many impaired drivers. "The students set quite an example," Leach said.

Firemen crowded in hall

By Neil Speers

The volunteers of the Drayton Valley Fire Department are being hampered in their job because the firehall is inadequate, says Fire Chief Sheldon Fuson.

Fuson says the first person to arrive at the hall has to drive the truck out of the hall because the volunteers do not have enough room to put on their gear when the trucks are in the hall.

The location is also a major problem for the department as the volunteer staff has to drive through the downtown to get to the hall, then back through the downtown to get to the fire.

Fuson stated. Another problem is only two of the four trucks used by the department are at the hall. The rescue truck is parked at a Shell station and the backup pumper truck is at the Public Works building. The backup pumper is a serious problem if it is needed because the crew first has to get a key to get at it, as well as the extra time it takes to pick it up.

"It definitely creates operating problems," Fuson stated.

Fuson explains the problems do not stop there.

If work has to be done on a truck or equipment the firefighters have to drive the trucks out onto the pad in front of the fire hall.

"The training room is a little bit on what you would call the small side," said Fuson. The room is a 12 by 15 foot room where it is like a sardine can in rush hour when all 21 members of the department crowd in every week for the regular sessions.

Even the shower, almost a necessity for a crew coming back from a hot fire, has been sacrificed to provide storage space.

Because the hall has no training ground, the firefighters have to take to the streets to get practice on specific types of problems.

"We have to go to the remotest parts of town to create the least disturbance for residents," explained Fuson. He added it is not safe to train this way as they still have to use a lot of water which can cause damage to property.

One of the major reasons for the problems, said Fuson, is the design of the hall which accounted for much smaller trucks than are being used now.

Fuson made his concerns known to town council a few years ago, but the matter was set aside because of planning and construction of the new swimming pool.

"I voted for it (the pool) myself," commented Fuson, but added he feels it is now time to consider a new hall.

Bylaws not enforced

Council doesn't have the answers

Former Drayton Valley councillor Terry Mulgrew wants to see the business license and zoning bylaws enforced.

Mulgrew, who has operated a business in Drayton Valley for 21 years, is upset over the increasing number of commercial businesses working out of people's homes.

The president and general manager of T.M. Electric has approached town council several times on the issue, but nothing has been done.

"Why do they enforce on me and not others?" Mulgrew wants to know.

A ball park figure on the number of commercial businesses operating out of people's homes is between 50 and 100.

The issue was discussed at the last town council meeting, but town council did nothing.

Town manager Manny Deol stated that Mulgrew had some valid points in a two-page letter.

"We know it's a problem but we don't have the answers," remarked Councillor Charlie Miner. Deol says there's no solution to the problem.

But Mulgrew doesn't see it that way. If there's a bylaw for such businesses, it should be enforced.

"The bylaw's there. If they can't enforce it, why have it?" Mulgrew says.

Because his request hasn't been handled by Drayton Valley council, Mulgrew plans to make his concerns known to the minister of Municipal Affairs.

Date changed

The Royal Lipizzan Stallion Show will not be coming to Drayton Valley on July 5.

Due to conflicting dates with the Calgary Stampede, the Royal Lipizzans will be coming to Drayton Valley a day earlier - Thursday, July 4.

Drayton Valley minor baseball is the sponsor of this visit.

Despite the change in dates, minor ball president Mickey McDowell is pleased with the Thursday date. He feels more people will be around to attend as opposed to the previous weekend date.

Treatment starts

Jamie Platz's treatment for cancer is underway at the Cydel Clinic in northern Mexico.

The 10-year-old Buck Creek youngster had his first test last Friday morning. He is scheduled to spend three weeks at the clinic which offers treatment using vitamins and diet.

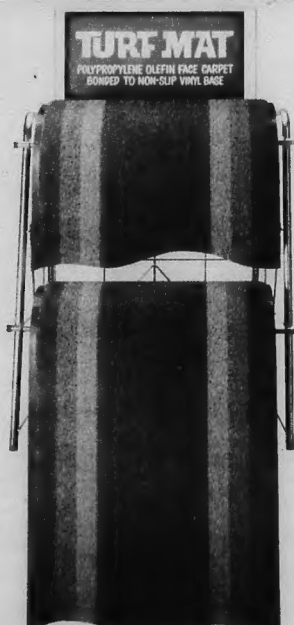

Platz for financial assistance just to make the trip possible raised $13,592. But more money is needed.

Due to the exchange $11,025 in Canadian money was needed just to pay the $7,940 hospital bill.

There are fears among people close to the scene that there won't be enough money to purchase the special vitamins which are not available in Canada.

In an effort to help, the Royal Canadian Legion in Drayton Valley has okayed a donation of $1,000 and the Lions Club is giving $400.

People, schools, clubs, organizations and business who wish to help can leave their donation at The Western Review or at the Toronto Dominion bank in Drayton Valley where a trust fund has been established. Checks should be made payable to the Jamie Platz trust account.

Drayton Valley Blades urged not to fold club

The future of junior hockey in Drayton Valley is skating on thin ice.

In fact, the junior 'B' Blades may not even ice a team to play out of the Centennial Civic Arena for the 1985-86 season.

The future of the Blades is certainly a question mark after they failed to send a representative to the Central Alberta Junior 'B' Hockey League meeting in Drayton Valley last week.

Their interest in the upcoming season also has to be questioned when they didn't send a representative to a town ice-users meeting, at which time requests for ice for the 1985-86 season were made.

Rumors are aplenty as to who's who with the Drayton Valley hockey team.

The league recognizes Les Sinclair as president of the Blades although he has indicated a lack of interest when questioned about league meetings and a new coach.

Vice-president George Thiel has apparently had enough and has left the team.

Simon Kelly, who handled the team through their final seven league games last season, vows he's not interested in the coaching job for 1985-86.

It's obvious from the latest developments that those connected with the Blades, whoever they may be, are not thinking about the 1985-86 season. Now is the time to start working for next season, not in September.

One of the 'rumors' had the Blades folding. That would be a big mistake.

The young men in this community deserve the opportunity to play junior hockey.

If the executive doesn't want to continue, step aside and let others accept the challenge.

But don't fold the team. That's too easy. Once a team has folded, it's next to impossible to come back.

Perfect situation

Fire department use water on oil blaze

By Neil Speers

The Drayton Valley Fire Department has gone against conventional wisdom and put out an oil fire with straight water.

During a practice session last week, the volunteers used a fine spray of water from two hoses to cool burning oil and literally blow the flames off the surface as the crew advanced on it.

Fire Chief Sheldon Fuson explained the conditions have to be near perfect for the method to work, mostly the fire has to be in a contained area where the oil cannot run away from the pressure of the water.

For the practice session, crude oil was dumped in a shallow pit, then gasoline and diesel fuel were poured over it.

A firefighter took a long stick with a burning rag over to the puddle of oil to set it on fire, but nothing happened. It took about 20 minutes to get the flames started on the oil.

"We're experts at putting out fires, not starting them," said Fuson.

The pit was set on fire a total of four times during the night. The first two times the fire was put out with water. During the third and fourth fires, the department used foam donated by local oil companies after the expiry date had passed on it, said Fuson.

The foam was much easier to use in putting out the flames as firefighters stood back 30 feet and let the foam do the work.

The department has around 40 gallons of good foam which it would use in the event of a real oil or gas fire, explained Fuson.

Firefighters battle flames with streams of water.

Start Tuesday

Hearings set for Brazeau-Pembina area

Three meetings will be held next week to review a draft integrated resource plan for the Brazeau-Pembina area.

The first public meeting will be held at the Royal Canadian Legion in Drayton Valley on Tuesday, June 11 with an open house from 3 to 6 p.m. and an information exchange starting at 7:30 p.m.

Similar meeting formats will be held on Wednesday, June 12 in the community centre at Alder Flats and on Thursday, June 13 at St. Matthew's Church in Rocky Mountain House.

The afternoon open house sessions are designed to provide an informal setting for the public to discuss the draft with members of the planning team. Information will also be on display highlighting provisions of the plan.

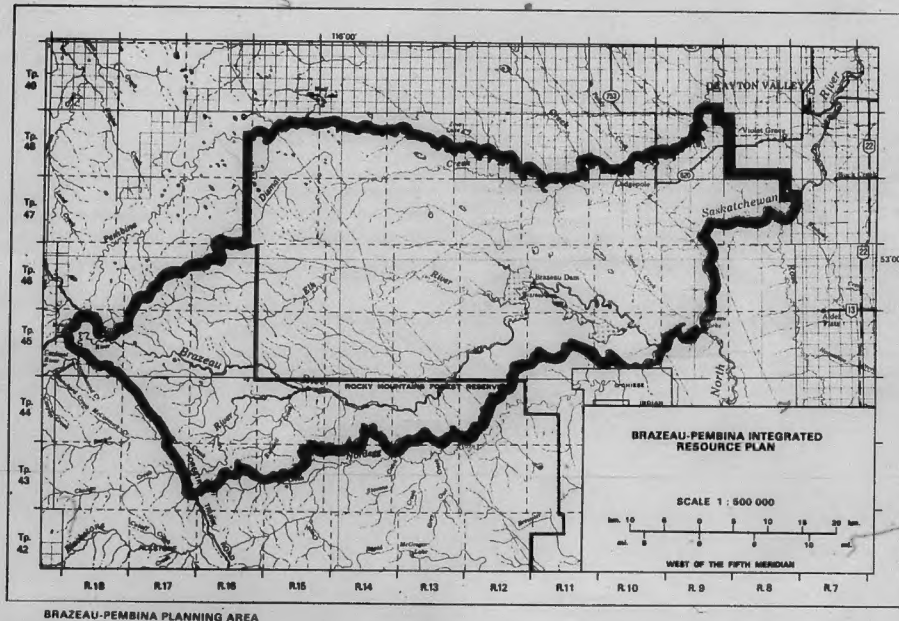

The evening's information exchange will allow anyone from the public to make formal or informal presentations to a panel of government resource directors, who are responsible for implementation of the plan once it is approved.

The Brazeau-Pembina plan is one of a number being prepared by the provincial government to provide a balanced approach to the management of public lands and resources throughout the Eastern Slopes and the province.

The planning area is located to the southwest of Drayton Valley in the general area of the Brazeau Reservoir and covers approximately 2300 km (1140 square miles) of gently rolling forestry land.

The public is urged to participate in these public meetings.

Scouts appreciate assistance

Dear Editor,

I would like to clarify one point made in your article of May 29 concerning the Masonic Lodge vacating the Scout/Guide Hall.

The article makes mention that the Scout/Guide Hall is utilizing the Elks Hall for bingos. While in fact we have and still do receive valued support from the Elks, the bingos are held at the Legion Hall. The Legion has been more than generous in their support both financially and in making their facility available to us.

Because of the cooperation of the Legion and the Elks as well as local business, we are nearing the position where we can soon move to our own facility. This move is scheduled to occur in July.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of our supporters, especially the Legion and Elks, and also The Western Review, for their cooperation. The Scout/Guide Hall is now in a position where we can generate the required funds necessary to keep the hall available to approximately 200 children involved in the scout and guide movements.

Yours truly,
W. Terry
President

Town's attitude hurting business

Dear Editor,

I'd like to ask the mayor and council of the town of Drayton Valley why I should continue to do my shopping in their town.

B.C. homecoming

Dear Editor,

The City of Prince George, B.C. is celebrating its 70th anniversary in 1985 with a special Homecoming August 2 to 11.

Former residents of the city now living throughout the world, are being encouraged to return to Prince George anytime during the summer, but specifically during Homecoming events. The theme of "Look At Us Now" emphasizes the growth and development of our community to an active industrial centre of more than 70,000 residents.

For information on Homecoming '85 in Prince George, B.C. interested readers are encouraged to write to either of the following:

Prince George Promotion Society, 1100 Patricia Blvd., Prince George, B.C., V2L 3V9; or Visitor & Convention Bureau, 1198 Victoria Street, Prince George, B.C., V2L 2L2.

Sincerely yours,
Prince George Promotion Society,
Rod Maides

If we — who just happen to live on the wrong side of the present county line (wrong side of the tracks?) — have to start paying a higher fee to make use of their precious swimming pool and library, we are apt to take our consumer dollar elsewhere.

I personally find it convenient to do my shopping in Drayton Valley but wonder if my patronage of these local stores means anything to the businesses in the town.

As in a letter to the editor in the May 15 of The Western Review, rather than penalize those residents, help them obtain the new county.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Lind

Shear fun

Minister of External Affairs Joe Clark had the honor of cutting the ribbon at Snow Goose Industries at Wildwood. Next to him, Lana Sampson, president of the new furniture company, lends a helping hand. Clark's constituency office in Edson was termed Snow Goose's extra warehouse, being done almost entirely from the furniture built by the company. White poplar is the wood favoured by the company and is the claim to fame which is the basis of the furniture made by Snow Goose.

Singers return

There will be a treat for bluegrass and country music lovers at the Pentecostal Tabernacle.

The Singing Harris Family will be making a reappearance in Drayton Valley. Pastor Barry McGhie said the group had been in town a few years ago and had been well received. The group will be back on June 27 and 28.

There will be no admission charged for the performances which will start at 7:30 each night at the church.

Anyone can go to see the gospel performance and testimonials, said McGhie.

Vissia repeats as top bus driver

The winner of the second annual Parkland County School Bus Rodeo turned out to be a repeat performer.

Mike Vissia, who won the rodeo last year, also took top honors in this year's event held at the Memorial Composite High School in Stony Plain May 25.

Vissia is a daily driver on a route between Keophts and Stony Plain.

Second place in the rodeo went to John La Perle, a contract driver in the Kitaskinaw School area.

Ken Swanson, a daily driver out of Spruce Grove, took third place honors.

Fifteen drivers completed this year's event.

As first place winner, Vissia will compete in the provincial rodeo to be held in Red Deer June 7 and 8.

Representatives from the County Police, Alberta Transportation Safety, Parkland Emergency, the Alberta Motor Association,

Emergency Response Services and the Sherwood Park Catholic School system and Parkland County School system acted as judges in the event.

The rodeo was sponsored by the County Police and the county Transportation.

Here's a classification I don't need to see. It has already done its work for me!

Staff leaving

Eldorado Elementary school in Drayton Valley has begun the search for new teaching staff.

Positions have come open with five of the instructors leaving and one new position being created, said Howard Pearson, principal of the school.

The school is adding a new Grade 3 teacher to the staff as they are getting a new portable classroom increasing the size of the school, he commented.

One of the teachers being replaced is Audrey Fagervold who is retiring after many years of service to the county, said Pearson.

Going on maternity leave are Dianne Lynch and Laurie Simons, both of whom will be gone for about a year, Pearson explained.

Two teachers are being transferred as well, he said.

Laurain Kruck is going to Elementary B and Bob Ochrane is going to the Wabamun school.

Trail riders

Members of the 4-H Moonlight Trail riders were out practicing their skills during a two-day mountain campout recently along the Pembina River. They will head out in August for a one week campout at the Ram River Falls.

Big breakfast bill for church

Many people would probably go into a state of shock if their food bills added up like the United Church's pancake breakfast does.

Ian Hoyland, in charge of the groceries, said they will use: 150 dozen eggs, 400 pounds of bacon and sausage, 50 pounds of butter, two cases of coffee, and three 60-pound sacks of pancake mix.

The cost is estimated at approximately $2850 for the two days they will serve breakfast at the Evergreen

Rodeo in Drayton Valley, said Hoyland.

In addition, there will be two shifts of cooks and helpers each of the days, about 20 people on each shift, he commented.

All this is to feed an estimated 1500 people who will come to the breakfast at the curling rink as part of the rodeo festivities.

The breakfast will go from 7 a.m. until 1 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday and is sponsored each year by the United Church in Drayton Valley.

Parkland County presentation

Almost 200 employees recognized

Parkland County has presented a 30-year long service award to the late Richie Woods of Drayton Valley.

Woods, principal at Frank Maddock High School passed away March 25, 1985.

Dot Woods accepted the long service award and a $500 contribution to the Richie Woods Memorial Scholarship from Mary Tkachuk.

The county also recognized 104 employees for service of five years, 60 for service of 10 years and 23 for service of 15 years at the awards ceremony held at the Edmonton Inn.

Awards for 20 years of service were presented to Olga Brown, a Drayton Valley school teacher, Edith Ferrier, a Seba Beach School secretary, Irl Miller, a teacher at Stony Plain Memorial Composite High School, Margart Nordby, a teacher at Eldorado Elementary School in Drayton Valley and Wilma Steeves, also a teacher at Eldorado Elementary School.

Recipients of awards for 25 years with the county were Philip Cymbaluk, a Seba Beach School teacher, Jenny Harris, a Drayton Valley teacher, Edith Isen, a retiring teacher from Kitaskinaw School, Gordon McManus, a Drayton Valley caretaker and Lyle Sutherland, a public works maintenance area foreman.

Finding out what people want

Pembina Consortium surveys public

The Pembina Educational Consortium in Drayton Valley is carrying out a survey to find out what people want.

Two hundred copies of the two-part, 11-page survey have been sent out in the Drayton Valley area.

"We hope to find out what people have in mind," explains Joe MacLellan, consortium director.

"We can offer one-week, three-week or three-month courses. We can do it all," MacLellan added.

Some of the 200 surveys have already been returned and MacLellan says the responses have been excellent. Others who have the survey are urged to complete it and return it quickly.

"We have the equipment and the people to offer flexible times," MacLellan stated.

Six schools meet on track

Three students lead St. Anthony to overall title

St. Anthony school in Drayton Valley captured the team title at the area track meet held last Friday.

Students from Wabamun, Seba Beach, Entwistle, H.W. Pickup and Tomahawk also competed in the event hosted by St. Anthony's.

Three students...Lisa Vowk in the bantam girls age group and Tracey Uzelman in the midget girls group won their age groups while Troy Johannesson tied for top spot in the junior boys category. The trio played a key role in St. Anthony's win.

Vowk claimed top spot by winning the 400-metre event, the 100-metre race, and the javelin. She also grabbed second in the long jump and third in the shot put.

Uzelman took first place in both the shot put and 800-metre events while placing second in the javelin and third in the discus.

Johannesson tied with Dean MacClead of Seba Beach in his age group. He won the shot put, 400-metre and 1,500-metre events then placed second in high jump and the 200-metres. He also got fourth in the long jump.

MacClead on the other hand won the 100 metres, 200 metres, long jump and placed fourth in the shot put to earn the tie.

Other individual winners included H.W. Pickup's Dawn Urchyskyn in the junior girls category. She won the 100-metre, 200-metre, high jump and then took a third in the shot put.

Jeremy Stacey of Seba Beach took top honors in the bantam boys category with firsts in shot put, the 800-metres, and the 400-metres.

In the midget boys group the winner was Fred Leteta of Entwistle who won the triple jump, the high jump, the shot put and the discus events.

St. Anthony's overall school victory with 254 total points was also anchored by the efforts of their relay squads. Out of six relays, St. Anthony teams took first in the bantam boys, bantam girls and midget girls categories. They also grabbed second in the junior girls and junior boys relays.

Seba Beach was second overall with 200 points, H.W. Pickup had 109, Wabamun with 69, Tomahawk with 49 and Entwistle with 38.

There several events where individual schools swept the top spots. In the junior girls long jump Seba Beach took first, second and third. They repeated this in the junior girls 1,500-metre event.

St. Anthony did a similar accomplishment by sweeping the top three spots in the midget girls 800-metres, the junior boys 1,500-metres and the bantam girls 1,500-metres.

St. Anthony captured top two spots in seven events - the bantam girls 100-metres, the midget girls 200-metres, the bantam girls discus, bantam girls javelin, midget girls shot put, midget girls 1,500-metres, and the midget boys 1,500-metres.

H.W. Pickup took the top two spots in the midget boys 800-metres and the midget girls high jump. Meanwhile Seba Beach took first and second in the junior boys triple jump as did Wabamun in the junior girls javelin.

The top three in each event go on to the Association track meet in Spruce Grove this Friday.

Wilneff captures crown over defending champion

By Lorne Christensen

It was almost like last year except for one thing.

This time Mark Wilneff won.

Wilneff captured the championship flight at the Oilmen's golf tournament on the weekend, held at the Drayton Valley golf club, with a one-stroke victory over defending champion Hank Shimbasahi.

Wilneff, from Drayton Valley, shot a 76 on his final round to edge Shimbasahi out of repeating. In last year's final Shimbasahi, who is also from Drayton Valley, beat Wilneff by one stroke to win. Both times golfers won the title on the last hole.

Wilneff held a two-stroke advantage after nine holes of play but Shimbasahi had pulled even at the 14th hole (number five).

The two were even again going onto the 18th but Wilneff held out to win the tournament.

Other winners included Terry Wilkinson in the first flight, Joe Palmer in the second, Les Banerman in the third, Jim Crough took the fourth and Rick Bradford captured the fifth. Ed Kobza won the sixth, Stan Meteleki the seventh, Doug Hutson won the eighth with Art Berg winning the ninth flight, Dale Mayan won the 10th, Dwight Campbell the 11th, Ross Lyle the 12th, Roman Tazaska won the 13th flight, Jim Streit the 14th, Gerald Walsh the 15th and Phil Taylor the 16th flight.

The tournament was a success despite the bad weather that plagued the Friday morning players.

Club pro Howard Vickers said the course held up well during the tournament.

Mark Wilneff watches as his putt rolls towards the cup in the Oilmen's tournament.

Hank Shimbasahi looks on as his ball just misses the cup on the ninth hole.

Western Review Sports Results

Trees sprout lead

The Denco Trees have taken over first place in the Evergreen Fastball League after winning two games.

They beat Penney's 3-2 and then blanked Lodgepole 7-0.

The Knights fell to second place with two losses. They dropped a 17-5 game to Breton and then were beaten 16-1 by Penney's.

In other games Breton dumped Lodgepole 7-0 but lost 1-0 to the Wildcats. Buck Luke beat Lodgepole 8-3 in the only other game.

Powers with one hitter

The Anxox Oil bantam baseball team travelled to a tournament in Sherwood Park on the weekend but dropped a close 7-6 game to lose out.

The team behind the pitching of Quinn Powers, who threw a one-hitter in the first game, beat out Ft. McMurray 12-0. But in the second game they lost 7-6 to a Sherwood Park squad in extra innings.

They were leading 6-3 in the bottom of the seventh when Sherwood Park hit a home run with one man on to tie the game and force the extra innings.

Local mosquitos swatted

A Mosquito All-star team from Drayton Valley competed in the Aurora tournament in Edmonton on the weekend but lost in the B side final.

The D.V. Tutoring team was beaten by Spruce Grove 23-19 in the opener but came back to beat Edmonton Steel Heights 11-4. They then clobbered Ft. Saskatchewan 16-6 with Tony Kopp knocking out three home runs.

But when the team came up against a squad from St. Albert they didn't have any left and lost 9-3. Moose Cartwright, manager of the team, said they had played seven hours of ball by this time and were too tired.

League meeting here but no Blades

The Drayton Valley Blades only had to go across town, but they still didn't show up.

The Central Alberta Junior 'B' Hockey League held a meeting at the Westwinds last Wednesday with all the teams in attendance but Drayton Valley.

The meeting was to discuss several items in preparation for the next season including expansions.

A Lacombe team was accepted by Hinton, Barrhead, Hobbema, Rimbey, and Rocky Mountain House.

The Lacombe representatives said they would be going back to Lacombe with the particulars of the league and from there look at entering the league for the 1985-86 season.

Another application from a Ft. McMurray squad was rejected by the teams due to the distance and travel costs teams would face.

If Lacombe does enter the league it will bring the total number of teams up to seven.

In other news from the meeting league governor Dave Danks of Whitecourt announced he won't be returning as governor for the next year. Danks had been governor for the past two years.

In response to this the teams asked Western Review editor Frank Ryan if he was interested in the position. Ryan declined saying he wanted to help the local team get something going first. Ryan will work with the junior league next season as their new statistician.

In other news from the meeting the league has agreed on two new rules to be implemented for next season. A 30-second timeout will be allowed for each team during a game and now players must touch the puck before icing will be called.

Two other proposed changes were voted out. The league decided not to suspend a player for the next game if he got a misconduct or was in a fight in the last five minutes.

In addition they also voted not to change the home and away sweaters half-way through the season. Under this proposal all the teams would switch away and home sweaters so their fans could see both sets.

The league hopes to have its schedule finalized by the end of June.

Drip on course

Riggy the oil drape and mascot of Drayton Valley was on hand last Friday to open the Oilmen's golf tournament. Riggy let drive on an orange that served as the make-shift ball for the opening tee-off in the tournament. Somehow Riggy did manage to hit the orange about 20 yards.

Ceasars pull team in Edson

The Drayton Valley Ceasars were forced to pull their team from the field during an exhibition game on the weekend.

The Ceasars were playing the Edson squad when "things got out of hand in the second half."

Goalie Simon Kelly said the decision to pull the team was to protect their players.

The Ceasars had been scheduled to play the Edson team in a league match but when the referee didn't show up they decided to play an exhibition game.

When they pulled off the field with 15 minutes remaining they were ahead 2-1.

In other action for the Ceasars, they dumped a team from the Grand Trunk High School in Evansburg 8-0. Kelly said they played mostly reserves in the exhibition game.

In other action around the league Mayerthorpe blanked Hinton 4-0 while Parkland beat the Sundance Strikers 4-1. Also Spruce Grove, who leads the league this year with three wins, beat Whitecourt 4-1.

Foothills cowboys coming

Evergreen Rodeo next stop on circuit

The Evergreen Rodeo in Drayton Valley coming up this weekend is the next stop for members of the Foothills Cowboy Association.

FCA cowboys just finished competing in a rodeo in Water Valley last weekend and most of the winners there will be coming to Drayton Valley.

Bill Nash will be a name to watch for in the saddle bronc event. He took a second behind Darrell Fox in Water Valley but still leads the saddle bronc standings almost 100 points ahead of second. Nash, from Calgary, scored a 73 in Water Valley to finish behind Fox's 75.

In the bareback event Glen Willisie of Caroline leads the standings after tying with Wade Barkshire and Keith Ullery in Water Valley.

In the steer wrestling the leader is Larry French of Hill Springs. The winner in Water Valley was Harley Wilson with a time of 4.2 seconds over Doug Betcher's 5.8 seconds.

The bull riding standings leader is Innisfail's Brad Lundgren. Lundgren didn't place in Water Valley as Ace Northcott of Caroline won the event with a 74 over Darrell Lausen's 73.

Doug Mantler from Coaldale leads the calf roping but Madden's Ray Haven is coming off a win in Water Valley with a time of 10.7 seconds. Mervin Hofer took second in Water Valley with a 10.9 time.

In the junior steer riding the leader is Neil Watson. Frank Herbert scored a 73 in the same event to win at Water Valley over Adrian Whitlow.

In the ladies barrel racing the leader is Bobbi June Miller but Maryanne Burrell won the last rodeo with Tracey Crawford second.

Marcy Nugent of Water Valley leads the junior barrel racing but she is coming off a fifth place finish in Water Valley. Twylla McDougall is in second place in the standings right now, but won the event in Water Valley over Carmen Crouch.

Bob and Myrna Boscher are pleased to announce the coming wedding of their daughter Karen.

Karen and Glen Myck were engaged Sept. 6, 1984.

Blocks Store buys grand champion calf at 4-H sale

By Lorne Christensen
Blocks store purchased the grand champion calf at the 4-H beef sale held recently in Drayton Valley.

They paid $2.10 a pound for the 1,165-pound simmental owned by Dagmar Unger of the Spruce Valley club.

The reserve champion calf, a 1,160-pound limousin owned by Randy Herman of Lobstick was sold to George's Propane for $1.80 a pound.

The average price was $.97 a pound with the low price at $.80 a pound. The heaviest calf tipped the scales at 1,290 pounds with the lightest being 760 pounds.

Parkland Packers, Unger's Lumber and Potts, and Sekura Auctions each purchased three calves.

PLH Packers, Parkland Operations, United Feed Edmonton, Drayton Valley IGA, Jules Pollard Construction, Sanguo Custom Packers and Blocks store each purchased two calves.

Seven clubs participated in the show held at the Drayton Valley arena.

Glenn Norton was the club champion for the Tomahawk club, along with winning first in senior showmanship. Bonnie Kohut won the senior showmanship club together with the grooming award. Darren Zander took second in senior showmanship with Darcy Kohut taking first in junior showmanship and Kenneth Rogers second. Kenneth Mackenzie took the club championship for the Drayton Valley club in addition to taking second in the senior showmanship category. The reserve club championship went to Tania Sekura who also won the grooming title and first in the junior showmanship. Dorothy Mackenzie won the senior showmanship award.

For the Lobstick club the club champion was Randy Herman who also took second in senior showmanship. Tracy Pfannmuller won the reserve club championship and the grooming award. Darcy Leakvold took the senior showmanship award with Sherrie Pfannmuller taking the junior showmanship over Sandra Bahrynowski.

Brent Bugera won the club championship for the Chip Lake club along with the junior showmanship title. Ron Anderson captured the reserve club championship together with the grooming award. Brennan Anderson was the senior showmanship winner.

For the Lin-Berry-Buck club the club champion was Brad Tweedie who also took second in senior showmanship and won the grooming award. Glen Holgren took the reserve club championship along together with a first in junior showmanship. Tricia Martin won the senior showmanship with Sylvia Robb taking second in junior showmanship.

Lori Schwartz was the club champion of the Two Rivers club and also took first in junior showmanship. Christine Hunley won the reserve club championship with Clifford Schwartz taking the senior showmanship. Justin Cornelison took second in senior showmanship but won the grooming award. Kevin Vign finished second in the junior showmanship category.

For the Spruce Valley club the club champion was Dagmar Unger, who also took second in the senior showmanship. Beate Unger won the reserve champion while Susan Cox took first place in the senior showmanship event. Tammy Cartwright took the first place position in the junior showmanship and also in grooming. Stephanie Cartwright took second in the junior showmanship.

Provincial finale

Six local athletes go south to meet

Six area athletes will be heading to the provincial track and field championships in Calgary next weekend. Colin Reich from Frank Maddock High School in Drayton Valley will be competing in the senior high jump event. He took a second place in the event during the northern regional meet last Saturday in St. Albert.

Joining him will be Sandra Andresen from Breton High School. She took a second in the javelin.

Four athletes from the Grand Trunk School in Evansburg will also make the trip south.

Garry Bluhm won the intermediate pole vault to advance. Bruce Barrs took second in the senior high jump while Darrell Reich captured first in the senior pole vault. The other student from Grand Trunk to advance was Kevin Fliedner on the North Central zone relay team that won in St. Albert.

The top two in each event go onto the provincials in Calgary.

SPECIAL THE

ESTIMATES ENERGY & NATURAL RESOURCES
MRS CRIPPS I just want to say a few words in relation to congratulate the minister on a job well done in the energy negotiations. I know it was very difficult and a lot of effort went into reaching an agreement. So on behalf of the constituents of Drayton Valley, I just want to say that we're pleased to have an agreement. We're pleased to have a future that we know is stable and has some sense of direction to it. I can't overemphasize the importance of that agreement to my constituency.

One of the areas I want to comment on, not related to the agreement, is the importance of tertiary recovery in the conventional fields. I know the minister recognizes that we get only 30 per cent of the known reserves, so the development of economic tertiary recovery methods would greatly improve the supply outlook and the long-term viability of such fields as West Pembina. For communities sitting on the edge of these conventional fields where 80 to 70 per cent of the oil is trapped, it is a concern that we really do take a look at tertiary recovery as a mechanism for long-term continuation of those fields.

I also want to mention the importance that should be attached to renewable resources. From my involvement on the forestry committee, I've come to recognize the vast potential of the industry. I know the town of Drayton Valley has waited anxiously for the development of the British timber development area. I agree that it's incumbent on us to ensure maximum utilization, good husbandry, environmental responsibility, and diversification for their extensive reforestation program. Quite frankly, Mr. Minister, I'm proud of it, and I think we should be saying "Hurrah!" and telling people that we do have the best reforestation program in Canada.

I want to go back to the Hon. Leader of the Opposition's comments the afternoon, because the industry and the ERCB have developed a lot of response mechanisms. I know they have developed response teams for blowout possibilities. I'm sure or at least I hope they have provided information to the public on the primary and secondary response, because the industry has been working extensively to try to develop their own responsiveness to such tragedies. Hopefully they won't have to use it, but to know it's in place.

The other area doesn't deal directly with the minister of energy's department but with workers' compensation. It deals with the blowout problems, and I hope that's an area the ERCB would look at in relation to whose responsibility it is to pay the costs. Right now workers' compensation costs are charged against the oil well service industry. They have absolutely no say on who the company brings in to do the job. Quite often they're from another country, yet the workers' compensation charges are charged against our own oil well service industry. While I know it's not a direct responsibility of yours, Mr. Minister, it is a major concern of the service industry because of the increased costs they incur should one of these blowouts happen. For instance, the death of one of the members at Edson was charged to the oil well service industry, and it had no relation whatsoever to the Alberta based service industry. I believe it's a problem we should all be looking at, not only on workers' compensation but in Energy and Natural Resources and certainly the ERCB, and that's the reason I raise it in your estimates.

I'd just like to say again how pleased the Drayton Valley constituency was with the energy agreement. They hope the three year phaseout of the PCRT will be rather quickly, and welcome forward to a vibrant and viable industry over the next few years.

ESTIMATES TOURISM & SMALL BUSINESS
MRS CRIPPS Mr. Chairman,

I have to concur with a Member for Edmonton Woodview in my uneasiness about Sunday openings. I agree that there will be extra costs involved, because if you work an extra day certainly you get an extra day's pay. If my mind is concerned with the extra cost of life in the smaller operations. If it's a family operation, it means you're working seven days a week instead of six days a week. Having done that for the past six years, I know it is stressful. Aside from that, the consumer purchasing power is the same whether they purchase in five days, six days, or seven days. So all we're really doing is spreading the consumer dollar over a longer period of time. I have some concerns about that.

I know that I'll be criticized by my urban counterparts who say that — in fact, Rolfe said it to me before — farms work on Sundays. We do, when we have to. We work on Sundays in seeding and haying. If the weatherman says it's going to rain, we have to get it done. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday. Again, so meow will say, well, your oil industry works on Sundays. They do work on Sundays, when it's absolutely necessary. But, Mr. Chairman, when it's possible and when the job will warrant the weekend off, quite frankly they won't. They work an ordinary work week. So that is a concern.

The other concern I have on Sunday opening, and I don't know whether this is the minority to raise it, well, the quality of life. I'm not sure if, in some cases, the family is ever going to be able to have a day when they are all home. The children go to school five days a week and they're home on weekends. If the parents are working weekends, it's going to be very difficult.

Motions other than Government motions

205 Moved by Mrs. Cripps
205 Moved by Mrs. Cripps

Be it resolved that the Assembly urge the government to undertake a review of government senior citizens' housing programs and principles and consider the establishment of an ongoing senior citizens housing review committee.

MRS CRIPPS Mr. Speaker this afternoon I'm pleased to introduce the motion, which will allow members the opportunity to think about and discuss the very important issue. At the end of the motion I want to point out that I believe Alberta has the very best senior citizens' programs in North America. Some of the programs are designed to allow senior citizens to remain in their homes as long as they wish or as long as their health permits. Programs such as the power repair program, the home repair allowance, the home care program, the senior citizens' tax reduction program, and the home care service make it possible for many senior citizens to continue living in their homes far longer than would be possible without those programs.

If it becomes desirable or necessary for senior citizens to move out of their homes, we have low-cost housing programs such as the self-contained units, where the rent is subsidized but the senior citizen essentially maintains his own residence and provides for himself, and the senior citizens' lodge program, where seniors are provided to the senior citizen. In addition to that Alberta has an excellent network of nursing homes and extended care hospital either fully funded or subsidized.

For the purpose of the debate I want to discuss extensively the senior citizens' lodge program. Senior citizens' lodges were first established in Alberta in 1959. It's like to emphasize, Mr. Speaker, how important it is for these lodges to be scattered throughout the province and in the smaller centres. That makes it possible for senior citizens to remain an integral part of the family, with the family being able to drop in to take care of and grandmothers for Sunday dinner. This concept, which is often lost when an elderly person is removed to a larger, more remote facility or centre, is very essential. Continued family and community support is so important to the mental health and welfare of the senior citizen.

The senior citizens' lodge program guidelines and philosophies have not kept pace with the changing needs of the residents. I was unable to find the original figures for the early 1960s, but I do know that the average age of residents was much younger than it is today. In 1974-75, three per cent of senior citizens in lodges were under 65, 25 per cent were between the ages of 65 and 74, 57 per cent were 75 to 80; and another 15 per cent were over 85. In 1978 another survey was done and 2.5 per cent were under 65, 18 per cent were in the 65 to 74 age bracket; 48 per cent were 75 to 84, and 32 per cent were now over the age of 85. In that four-year period the residents over 85 had jumped from 15 per cent, and the total number of residents over 75 had moved from 72 to 80 per cent of all those in senior citizens' lodges. This means that the needs of senior citizens in the lodges have changed just because of the chronological differences in their numbers that are presently in the lodges.

An article in the January 1985 Reader's Digest that I picked up says:

"Thanks to better health care, people are living longer. Already there are about 950,000 aged over 75, and by the end of the century the number is expected to reach 1.5 billion (in Canada)."

I want to dwell for a moment on the physical needs which may require policy changes. I talked to a nurse the other day, and she indicated to me that many people, not just senior citizens, have incontinence problems in the lodge. It sometimes becomes a cause for removal to a nursing home or an auxiliary hospital. I discussed the problem with the lodge staff, and they said that the problem could be coming in a home care worker to bathe, change sheets, and generally see to the cleanliness of the residents, they were able to try to solve it. I think that's a very important point, because at one time she was looking after nine people in the lodge, not necessarily on a daily basis but on a weekly basis — the cost could be justified. If there was only one person it was very expensive, because they had to pay two hours regardless of whether there was one, two, or three.

She suggested that the lodge management might need to look at employing a personal care aide, so the needs of these people could be met in the lodge, and at co-operating more extensively with the home care program of the health units. Some of these seniors need assistance with bathing, medication, incontinence, etc. I think the problem is that removal to a nursing home. In this case she described to me, it really was not in the best interests of the resident, the family, or the taxpayer to make the move to the nursing home. Other than some extra personal care needs, the residents were able to function in the home and were content and happy there. What's more, they're dressed being moved.

The problem of medication needs also arises. Some boards ask people will not even allow the staff to remind a resident to take their pills. The problem could be readily solved by the use of a bubble pack. The drugstore can put the medication for each day, and each meal if necessary, in a bubble pack for the month. The pills are punched out as needed and as needed as needed. The bubble pack is punched out as needed. The health nurse checks the bubble pack to make sure that medication is correct. Of course, that requires the flexibility of a board to allow staff to remind residents that the pills must be taken. Mr. Speaker, I think the board would want to show this flexibility if it is in the best interests of the senior citizen residents in their lodges.

The lodges are excellent physical structures and, for the most part, provide adequate if not exceptional food and lodging. The lodges are clean and neat. The food is varied, tasty, and well prepared. One of the purposes of the senior citizens' review committee should be to assure that this is so.

Mr. Speaker, of my major concerns and a partial reason for raising this issue for discussion is the atmosphere within the senior citizens' lodges. The Senior Citizens' Advisory Council included this paragraph in their 1983 annual report:

"Lodges provide board and room for elderly persons, sup- posingly well and able to care for themselves. Some lodge residents are now receiving some personal care, either from the staff or from community services such as home care. We suggest that more community boards managing lodges look at ways of seeing their residents in their facilities, and also expanding health surveillance and assessment and life enrichment activities for their elderly residents. These latter activities are as important as meeting the basic needs for food and shelter, and some staff time needs to be devoted to them."

I believe it's important to re-evaluate our philosophies and policies. It is important for the foundation to set objectives and goals. These goals and objectives must be realistic, and they must be the needs of the senior citizens residents, not the foundation board or the staff. One foundation has set out a policy paper. It might be worth outlining a few of them. They have a statement of purpose first, which is:

"To provide accommodation in a caring, home-like atmosphere for senior citizens able to care for their own personal daily needs, to provide the daily aids to living of the senior citizens in conjunction with other public service agencies, to ensure that the lodge and its facilities best meet the needs of senior citizens, and to provide opportunities for residents to participate in leisure, recreational and social activities which foster their contact with the wider family and community life, within the limits of the physical, human and financial resources available to the foundation."

Mr. Speaker, they've recently adopted some goals too, and I think they are worth mentioning in this discussion. Number one, to provide a cheerful, homelike atmosphere for seniors, where they can be sure that they are cared for as individuals. Two, to provide leadership in and provision of recreational activities and opportunities for seniors to occupy their time and energies to help them maintain or develop wholesome social contacts and activities. Three, to provide healthy, nutritional meals for residents in lodges. Four, to ensure that the lodge atmosphere is a pleasant one, where it provides safe, clean, and structurally sound physical accommodation. Five, to assist residents in conjunction with other community agencies and services to make use of the lodge atmosphere to their best advantage. Six, to ensure that all residents may reside in dignity. Seven, to encourage maximization of individual self-reliance and independence. Eight, to ensure that the lodge atmosphere is a pleasant one, where it provides safe, clean, and structurally sound physical accommodation. The Western Review, Drayton Valley, Alta., June 5, 1985, Page 21

Thirteen, to ensure that the minimum level of social and physical standards are maintained within each lodge. There are a couple more, but I think that gives an idea of the goals of the foundation. I'd just like to re-emphasize that the first two main goals are in the provision of social and spiritual needs of the resident.

Comfortable, homelike atmosphere. If we resident staff and seniors are proud of their lodge and make visitors welcome. The activities and the participation of residents in the lodge are commended. Members were interested in the way the Activities Director and the Matron managed to obtain the involvement of the Residents to say, the residents and staff of the home were delighted with the report and really appreciated having the Health Facilities Review Committee come in. Quite frankly, if the lodge is doing a good job, I think they should welcome this kind of involvement by the government and appreciate the responsibility we have. One of the residents made a comment about the staff and the Shangi-La. He has a waiting list of people wishing to enter the lodge. I believe there are 12 or 14 on the list right now, and there aren't more because people know there is a list. One of the residents of the lodge said that if some of the foundations that are scrambling to make ends meet because their occupancy is down, would take a look at the involvement of the senior citizens in the Shangi-La Lodge and recognize that the waiting list is because the Shangi-La is a home, not an institution, they could resolve their dilemma with half-filled lodges.

I thought that was quite an adept statement for a senior citizen living in a lodge. He's right: some lodges are partially empty because of the atmosphere in the home. Certainly there are people out there who may need or wish to be in a home but don't go because they just can't stand the thought of moving into an institution.

I believe it's imperative that lodges be managed by local management committees which are vitally interested in the health and welfare of the lodge residents and in their community. There is a provision in the charter of the foundation for senior citizens' boards of management. These local people should have enough flexibility, as long as they live within their budget, to make the lodge a real home rather than an institution in which people are just inmates.

I want to briefly mention another senior citizens' lodge, which is working on an activity space. Some lodges were built a few years ago without much activity space. The senior citizens' lodge in the Westview Lodge requested additional activity space from the Department of Housing. Unfortunately, their request came at a time of budgetary cutbacks. The local club decided they would raise the money to add additional facilities, and they have. Maybe it was a fortunate "unfortunate," because there is community involvement in that lodge as there has never been before. Alberta Housing gave permission to build a recreational area addition and did the design for them. I believe they signed a contract with Alberta Housing yesterday to build the recreational space and turned over $51,000 which they had raised locally and through recreation grants from the Department of Recreation and Parks. Needless to say, the residents and the community are extremely proud of what they've been able to achieve by working together for themselves and in co-operation with Alberta Housing. Mr. Speaker, I've deliberately not dwelt on the activities, which of course are pretty oriented.

I believe that part of the recommendation which requests the government to consider the establishment of an ongoing senior citizens housing review committee should also have the ability to address concerns raised by residents of this type of facility. I think the Senior Citizens' Advisory Council says:

The Council further recommends that standards be established for the lodge program and that lodges be managed by an appropriate body and regularly inspected by that body.

This might be worth thinking about. There are some real problems in the staff, I know of one lodge where the house rules that staff must not talk to residents. This certainly makes it difficult for each day, and it must be said, residents feeling very cool and neglected. In another senior citizens' lodge an elderly fellow was severely scolded by a staff member for an accident which certainly wasn't intentional. The staff member was embarrassed enough without the scolding. It was a major blemish, and the daughter of one of the other residents was sitting nearby when he finally got out of the limelight. She said he turned to her with pain-filled eyes and said "I've got to get out of this place permanently. They hate me." Two days later he was gone permanently. He'd died.

In Reader's Digest article on how to choose a senior citizens' home, it says:

Staff attitudes toward residents are a sure guide to the suitability of a home. Be very wary if you hear a staff member say to a man who's four times his age, "Come on, Tom, be a good sport."

I believe the fundamental senior citizens' lodge program in the province of Alberta is excellent. But I believe it's imperative that we take a look at the role of the foundations, boards, matrons, and staff in providing a home for the senior citizens. I recently read a quote where one administrator indicated that they ran their lodge like a hotel. The province of Alberta is not in the business of building homes; we are building senior citizens' homes.

Recently a senior citizen asked my advice about a personal problem. I indicated I simply could not give advice in such a situation, because it was neither my place nor in the senior's best interest for me to make a judgemental decision to which the senior would have to act upon. I received the laughing reply from the senior citizen that "Well, a nurse is as good as a push to a blind horse."

So she really didn't want my moral advice, just just wanted a little nudge. Another meaning that came from the above quote is that senior citizens do not want to be forced into doing things, be they activities, decisions, or major moral decisions. They want a nudge, they'll come to their own conclusion in due course. There is a really no need to push.

Some of the senior citizens' seniors as they were through the decades before. Some seniors have always made decisions and still want to be involved in decision making, even though physically they may not be totally able to carry out the decisions and carry out the decisions. Others have made decisions all their lives and have absolutely no intention of ever making another one. Then there is another group of senior citizens who are in a middle ground. They are not so sure of their own decisions and don't intend to start now. In each of these cases the senior citizens' lodges a home should provide enough scope to allow each and every senior citizen to function in the way that they are threatened or pressured. A senior citizens' social club on the lodge allows all seniors to be either involved in the decisions or not as they choose.

It's important that the philosophy of the senior citizens' lodges and nursing homes be such that not only the physical comforts be provided but also the emotional, intellectual, and mental needs be considered. Senior citizens' lodges must not be a milieu between life and death but can be a continuation of life in a relaxed atmosphere which encourages initiative, productivity, hobbies, or just relaxed coexistence with the rest of the world that should be the goal. Mr. Speaker, I ask all members to support this motion and think carefully about the changing needs of the senior citizens who reside in this province.

I've got some pictures here, taken at the Shangi-La Bazaar and I'll pass them around while the motion is going on.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I welcome any comments, questions or concerns. Please contact me at my constituency office.

25th Anniversary

Legion women celebrate

Almost 200 people showed up to help the Drayton Valley Legion Women's Auxiliary celebrate its 25th anniversary last Saturday night.

Auxiliary president Alice McGregor seemed somewhat unprepared for the turnout as only about 30 tickets had been sold the day before.

Receiving pins for 25 years service to the auxiliary were Ester Davidson, Ileen Disney, Cecille MacKenzie, Alice McGregor and Helen Wardlow.

Davidson, MacKenzie, McGregor and Wardlow also received pins for being charter members of the organization along with Dorothy Matlock, Betty Waugh, Irene Frank, Pat Jenkins, Mary Medwed and Barb Turner.

Access project

Shangri-La film debuts

By Neil Speers

A unique project for Access television made its first public appearance in Drayton Valley last Friday.

The production, When You Walk In That Door, about the Shangri-La Lodge senior citizens home in Drayton Valley, was a precedent for Access which usually works on educational material for young audiences, said the producer of the project Sherrell Beresh.

The film crew from Access filmed five days of activities last fall depicting how the staff and residents at the lodge work together to make the lodge into a home instead of an institution, she explained.

Another difference in the production was how the people from the lodge had "very direct influence on the production," commented Beresh.

Alberta Housing provided most of the funding for the production, with additional money coming from New Horizons.

Access will be showing the film on its television station this fall, stated Beresh.

Also, the lodge plans to take a video of the film around to other homes to show what has been done in Drayton Valley.

Beresh was pleased with her involvement in production. "Everyone who worked on the project absolutely fell in love with the residents and staff."

Canoe race held

Two from Tomahawk repeat

The team of Mark Collins and Darren Strocher from Tomahawk took top honors again at the second Brazeau to Drayton Valley canoe race.

Collins and Strocher even cut two hours off their previous time, completing the race in just four hours and 41 minutes.

The pair won the event last year.

The race was held in two parts over two days, each of the pairs taking about two hours to complete, the final time being the combined time of both days.

Stocher and Collins received a $100 gift certificate from The Outdoor Store, which sponsored the race, and will have their names engraved on a trophy to be kept at the store. As well, the pair won a bottle of champagne for having had the fastest time on the first day.

Greg Davis and Ed Gilmore had the second best combined time of five hours and 11 minutes.

The third best time was by David Boehm and Brad McLeod with five hours and 36 minutes.

Soap box derby

Deadline nears

The deadline for entries in the second annual Parkland County soap box derby is nearing. June 7 is the last day that any racers can get their entries in to Stony Plain and will qualify for the event.

The derby itself is scheduled for June 15.

Eight teams competed in the two-day event.

Official soap box cars are available at Bumper to Bumper stores.

Entry forms can be picked up at either the offices of the county police in Drayton Valley or Stony Plain. The County of Parkland Recreation Departments also have entry forms available.

The interview

Tips on finding youth employment

Another summer is well on its way and with it comes the onslaught of students — both post secondary and secondary — looking for a summer job.

Remember back to your first summer job and the interview that got you that job. Were you nervous? Did you know what to say and what to do? Most of us have to find out personally the 'ins and outs' of the interview process, but here are some simple tips that will help you with your interview.

Remember:

1. Arrive a few minutes early.
2. Politeness, confidence, and enthusiasm pay.
3. Speak clearly.
4. Dress neatly.
5. A list of your work experience and interests can be useful to give to an employer.
6. Tell the interviewer your career goals, your qualifications.
7. If you have questions, ask them.
8. Thank the interviewer for his/her time.

By Heather Parker

9. If necessary, ask when you can expect a decision.

10. Leave promptly when the interview is over.

Well, I hope this information has helped. If you need further assistance or want to register at Hire-A-Student, give me a call at 542-7861. Good luck on your job search.

Plans completed for Breton agricultural complex

By Shell Carson

Funnell Community will be having a travelling day camp July 8 to 12 for children six to 12 years-of-age. The fee is $10 per child. For more information call Lois at 696-2394.

Breton playschool has concluded its school year with a trip to Storyland Valley Zoo and a family supper at the Lions Park.

Breton TOPS chapter will be having a tea and miscellaneous and bake sale June 15 beginning at 1:30 p.m. at the Golden Age Centre.

The Breton and District Historical Society has been busy restoring the Keystone Cemetery.

A social evening honoring Walter Wynnyk and Lyle Oulton is planned for June 22 from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Breton Community Centre. For tickets contact Roy Slout at 696-2270 or 696-3633 or Box 28, Breton, T0C 0P0 by June 12.

Dixie Ellis had the misfortune to injure her ankle last week.

Have you ever wanted to chat with an author about his book? Then come and meet the authors of 'Escape to Honor', Bryan Taylor and Larry Harris. The Breton library will be holding an authors' night June 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Breton Civic Centre at 7:30 p.m. All interested people are invited to meet these two gentlemen.

The Agricultural Society has now completed the second set of plans for the agricultural complex. However, the date of the public meeting has not been set yet.

July 1 activities have now been scheduled. The next community meeting for Buck Creek will be held June 11 at 8 p.m.

Funnell bus-to-swim is scheduled for July 22 to Aug. 2. Contact Lois Dyck at 696-2394.

The annual horseshoe tournament will be held June 15 starting at 12 noon. This is a family event and everyone is welcome to attend.

Every second Friday is the regular meeting night for the Moose Hill Community Hall. There will be a steak-fry June 15 which is open to the public. The tickets are $10 per person with a social to follow.

Breton mosquitoes have a two and two record at the time of writing. Next home game is June 10.

Shake your fire extinguisher

Many vehicles in this area are carrying fire extinguishers which do not work.

A few weeks back, a motorcycle which had been just returned to its owner from a shop caught fire.

A man passing by stopped his truck and grabbed the fire extinguisher. Pointing it at the fire, he pulled the pin and squeezed the lever. Nothing happened.

Sheldon Fuson, fire chief for Drayton Valley, explained the chemicals in the extinguishers are packed down by the vibration of riding around in a car or truck.

"People have the misconception an extinguisher works because they have never used it, he commented.

If you have an extinguisher in your vehicle, said Fuson, you should take it out about once a week, turn it upside down and shake it to break up the chemicals inside.

He added a general maintenance check-up should be done on the extinguisher every six months.

"You never know when you will be the one who is required to supply an extinguisher at a fire," Fuson said.

Perfect time for yard work during sign of Capricorn

By Joanne Bengier

Today the moon runs low and we are in third quarter as well as the semi-fruitful earth sign of Capricorn.

It is a time for planting extra radishes and other fast-growing root crops and the time to move perennial roots.

With personal plans, the idea that first came in first quarter and then matured at Full Moon is now crystallized for better or worse. Sometimes third quarter is referred to as Form, for this is when ideas take on their concrete and permanent form: be it a new fence, a new building, a poem, a new personality, a new habit or a new lifestyle.

June 7-8 will find us in Aquarius, and still in third quarter. Since this is a barren air sign, it is the perfect time for mowing the lawn and for getting rid of weeds and insect pests.

If your first quarter idea was humanitarian in nature, this is the time to see it take Form.

Do things of a dwindling nature. Start drying off cows or weaning animals and children now. Borrow money and you should be able to repay it in time.

Look at your hair. Permanent waves and hair coloring are favored and it's time to shop for plaids and stripes and all sorts of computer-designed clothes.

June 9-10 will find us in the fertile water sign of Pisces as well as in third quarter, reaching fourth quarter on the 10th.

This dwindling moon is a good time for planting and moving roots.

Places favors escapist activities so get out the patio lights and have an outdoor picnic that seems like a trip to fairyland. Watch the drinks however, as this is when problem drinkers tend to drink like fish.

Enjoy yourself but don't take anything that anyone says seriously. Opinions and ideas are like fish — swimming now this way and now the opposite way. People can argue both sides of a question moments apart.

June 11-12 will find us in the barren fire sign of Aries as well as in fourth quarter. Weed and kill insect pests.

Fourth quarter is a time of disintegration. If the idea from first quarter took Form in third quarter, it will remain; but if the idea did not transfer into reality successfully, it will now dissipate and vanish.

During fourth quarter, people tend to reflect and either feel restless and unhappy about ideas that didn't come to fruition or feel relaxed and contented with what has been accomplished.

This is the time to add finishing touches and trims.

If you feel tired and disheartened, don't despair. We'll soon have New Moon and a time to start all over again.

Whose lucky week is it? Aquarius remains our lucky sign until June 21.

Most fortunate birthdays this week fall between Feb. 7 and 14 until the 10th and between Feb. 15 and 19 the rest of the month. The lucky number to remember is three.

Important days this week
June 11 is St. Barnabas' Day which occurred on the longest day of the year before the calendar was changed and the old jingle went, "Barnaby bright! Barnaby bright! The longest day and shortest night."

Zukiwski's leave Alder Flats

A farewell potluck supper was held recently in the Alder Flats Community Centre to honor William and Mary Zukiwski and their son Michael, Pauline, Laura and Colleen, residents of this area for many years. Michael and his family have set up residence in Drayton Valley and Pauline is teaching brownies.

Mary and William have purchased a house in Tofield.

They were married in Willingdon in 1939. William worked in the sawmills while operating his homestead and in 1954 started work in the oilfield as a battery operator. He retired in 1981.

Mary will always be remembered for the beautiful and artistic Ukrainian Easter eggs she created.

The Zukiwskis arrived in Alder Flats May 22, 1940 from Willingdon, AB with their cow, calf, 10 chickens, 10 bags of flour, seed oats, two horses and a walking plow. There was no accessible road to their homestead so they stayed 10 days at Alex Forchuck's until the rain stopped and his brother Ted came with a team and wagon to take them to their one-room log home which was to last 46 years.

Student discipline program planned for Breton school

A student discipline program will be introduced in the Breton elementary school, with the support of the Leduc county school board.

Principal Clark Langraf suggests by isolating disobedient children in a special room supervised by an adult, detention times can be productive, trustees heard at a May 14 meeting.

"It is an innovative project, styled as such. I think it's an exciting idea," offered superintendent Bob MacDonald.

Breton elementary submitted a request to the board asking an additional $1,360 be paid to the school library clerk for supervising detentions. The money represents an additional 188 hours per school year, or one extra hour a day, trustees were told.

A concern was expressed by one board member that accepting the concept might result in an increase in requests from other schools, possibly costing the board thousands.

"Each principal may or may not be using the idea — not all will be using this method," replied trustee Phyllis Schnick. "I think of all disciplinary measures that could be used, this is positive."

Trustee Colleen Lee noted, "We have asked them to come up with this program. We want something done in discipline. Suspending and sending them home does not do anything. I would like to try this for awhile to see if it does what it's supposed to do."

Breton elementary will be cutting back staff by one member this year, deputy superintendent Jack Bland reminded the board.

"There is no major discipline problem in Breton, but they wanted to improve in that area. Aide time is not as expensive as a teacher's time," he pointed out.

Administration also noted the library clerk would only be paid when supervising, and would also spend the time working.

"I feel that discipline could be improved in all schools. In my opinion, discipline is more lax than when I went to school. Breton will be a test case and the situation will be closely monitored to see whether it makes a difference," said trustee Kerry Bonnem, also noting "phenomenal" costs resulting from vandalism at local schools.

Peer support group possible

An attempt is underway in Drayton Valley to form a peer support group for high school students.

A meeting has been scheduled for tomorrow (Thursday), 4 p.m. at the AAAC office in the provincial building.

Tom Tufts is a counsellor for the group, which is being funded through the STEP program.

The peer support group's intention is to deal with day-to-day concerns of kids.

But Tufts' efforts to get this group off the ground have not been very successful.

He has already received a flat 'no' from the County of Leduc. They were not interested at this time of year. And Tufts realizes he may face the same fate in Drayton Valley as students are busy with exams and holidays are just around the corner.

Families enjoy weekend

By Alma Johnson

A ladies' work-bee was held at the hall May 14. The ladies washed walls, cleaned cupboards, defrosted and cleaned the fridge, etc.

A number of families from this area that enjoyed the long weekend camping at the Brazeau Dam included the Bernie and Chester Towns, the Rick Cherringtons, the Rod Blocks and the George Camerons.

The annual gathering of the Wojciechowski and Woloszyn families, plus friends and neighbors took place at the farm on the long weekend. Family members came from Prince George, B.C., Edson, Edmonton, Spruce Grove as well as locally.

Some of the Bitter families were out to the farm on the long weekend for a family get-together.

Anyone having news please call me at 727-2312.

Enjoying his first trip to Canada, Geovy was on his way to Creston, B.C. from his start the previous day at Daysland. Despite rain, the German biker covered 160 km his first day on Alberta highways, travelling from Daysland to Camrose, across to Leduc and west to Drayton Valley. Equipped with a tent, sleeping bag, extra tire, air pump, raincoat and clothes, Geovy figured the trip to Creston would last eight days.

Over 800 rural students ride the bus

By Frank Ryan

Five days a week 18 big yellow school buses roll into Drayton Valley.

Their destination is the town's five schools.

Almost half of the 1,928 students who attend those schools ride the bus.

Figures show that 827 young people come into Drayton Valley daily to attend school, which supports the theory that rural living is almost as popular as living in town.

Approximately half, 220 of 440 students at Frank Maddock High school, ride the bus.

More than half of the total school enrollment at Eldorado, 211 of a total 403 ride the bus.

Half of the school population at H.W. Pickup Junior High also ride the bus with 200 getting a ride to school compared to 150 who come from town.

At Elementary 'B', 161 of the school's 347 students come on the bus.

And, only 85 students out of a total enrollment of 388 take the bus to St. Anthony's.

Of the 18 big yellow school buses 15 pick up students in Parkland County while three are from the County of Leduc.

Also involved in picking up students are three remote areas such as the Brazeau Dam to meet the bus at Lodgepole.

Many of the school bus drivers are man and wife teams.

One of the part-time drivers is Don Snell, pastor at the Church of God in Drayton Valley, who makes his first stop on the Lodgepole run at 7:55 a.m. and has all the children home by 4:30 p.m.

According to Richard McCullough, transportation co-ordinator for Parkland County in Stony Plain, the buses run every day unless it's -40° or colder.

One of the biggest fears facing McCullough and the drivers is the motorist who doesn't stop when a bus is loading or unloading passengers.

"Most people stop," part-time driver Don Snell says.

But it's the motorists who don't that will result in a new eight-light system on all new buses. McCullough feels the new eight-light system will be mandatory on all school buses within three years.

So, often those big yellow school buses that roll along our highways and streets are taken for granted. Just remember, they're carrying our future.

County taxpayers face nine per cent increase

Town to spend $35,000

The town of Whitecourt has decided to spend $35,000 for an economic development officer. However, town council doesn't have a job description for the new position.

County purse hit hard

Penoka county taxpayers are looking at a nine per cent increase on their tax notice this year. For a half-section of farmland, that means an additional $123 on top of last year's $1,400.

Registration up

The St. Anthony school had an increase in its registration this year for Grade 1 students.

By the end of last week, the school had 47 first graders registered, up substantially from last year.

"In fact, by the end of last June, we had 28 students registered," said Hazel Lingard, vice-principal at the school.

If the school was to pick up another 12 to 20 first grade students in the fall, the school would "possibly have to hire another teacher," she commented.

"We could handle a few more" without any major changes in the school, Lingard explained.

Eldorado wants to expand

The Eldorado Elementary school in Drayton Valley has applied to expand its classroom space with another portable unit.

Howard Pearson, principal of the school said he expects the Grade 3 class to be larger next year.

He added it is hard to predict the population of the school in coming years. This year, the school had more Grade 1 students than had been expected, he explained.

Eldorado has had around 400 students for the last few years, said Pearson.

Town STEP's up staff

The town of Drayton Valley plans to hire 10 summer staff through the STEP program.

And another four will be employed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Eight of the town staff will work in the Parks Department with another working in the Recreation Department and one other at the municipal library. Five of these will be hired in July when school ends.

The four staff the Chamber of Commerce receive through the program will be split between the Hire-A-Student office and the tourist booth.

Around the Province

RCMP investigate crude oil theft

It will be at least another month before charges are laid in the theft of $120,000 worth of crude oil in the Taber area. The RCMP are expected to issue warrants in Brooks, Calgary, Taber, Barnwell and Lethbridge in connection with the case.

Library OK's computer

The Red Deer public library plans to purchase a $295,000 computer.

Hospital begs for money

The Red Deer Regional Hospital Centre will have to cut services unless the provincial government provides more money. The hospital is forecasting a $1.9 million deficit unless the province comes through with more than the $53.9 million already pledged.

Winter devastates alfalfa crop

Farmers in central and northern Alberta have lost up to 20 per cent of their alfalfa crops due to the harsh Alberta winter. Freezing last fall is being blamed because it choked off oxygen to the crops and the severe winter killed the high protein legume in the areas swept free of protective snow cover.

Bids exceed costs

All the bids for the proposed remand centre in Red Deer came in all over the $11 million budget. The lowest of the bids received was $13,037,316 while the highest bid came in over $14 million.

Hint- Avoid yellows with blue

- An open mind collects more riches than an open purse.
- Add a cup of vinegar to the rinse water of corduroy. It removes the lint.
- Spilled tea on your good cloth? Sprinkle salt on it right away and wash.
- You may forget with whom you laughed, but you will never forget with whom you wept.
- Paint the inside of your linen closet blue and your linens won't turn yellow.
- Give your room a fragrant odor by rubbing the electric lightbulb with your favorite cologne.
- People should blow their own horn. After all, they're really the only ones who know the tune.
- If you're making a pudding with milk, it won't burn as quick if you first rinse the pan out with cold water.
- Scrambled eggs are fluffier if you leave out the salt and pepper.
- My life is God's gift to me. What I do with my life is my gift to God.

Paddlers coming

The Parks Canada Centennial Canoe Pageant will visit Drayton Valley Tuesday, July 2.

The 44 paddlers, all students of St. John's Boys Schools (Warburg, Saskatchewan and Winnipeg) are scheduled to leave Rocky Mountain House on Canada Day, July 1. Their stop in Drayton Valley is part of a five-week trip down the North Saskatchewan River to Lower Fort Garry at Selkirk, Manitoba.

Members of the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce tourist committee, headed by chairman Bruce Clemmer, are busy making plans for the overnight stop. This is the second straight year a canoe expedition has stopped on the shores of the North Saskatchewan River near the town.

Town needs rec plan updated

The town has decided to hire a consultant to revise and update Drayton Valley's recreation master plan.

"It takes a lot of work and the only way to get it done is through a consultant," town manager Manny Deol told council last Thursday.

The town needs to get their recreation master plan updated as it affects many of their grants.

The recreation board made the recommendation to proceed with a consultant at their last meeting.

Complaints down

County police not as busy

Parkland County Police Department investigated 424 complaints during the first three months of the year, says a quarterly report presented to county council on May 18.

The number of complaints was down from last year's total of 507 for the same period. County police issued 1,094 overweight trucking permits during January, February and March.

The number of overweight infractions decreased to two from the six infractions during the period last year.

Motor vehicle accidents in the county police jurisdiction also decreased.

In 1984 there were 12 accidents during the first three months of the year. In 1985 there were seven.

The department experienced a "significant decrease" in the number of prosecutions as well.

This year 605 charges were laid compared to 1,064 last year.

Federal grants.

Water well grant is for 'bonafide' farmers

DON'T PANIC! This is not a new grant!

In fact, it is one of the oldest grants around. But I've had enough calls on it this spring alone to justify telling you about it. I won't cover all details, just the important points.

This is a federal program, NOT provincial. It's administered out of Westlock (349-3963) and any really serious questions or "special cases" will have to be referred there.

The grant is available to eligible farmers for the purpose of developing dugouts and wells. Dugouts are to be at least 2,500 cubic yards in size, be a least 12 to 14 feet deep and of sufficient size to provide a two-year water supply.

Wells must meet various construction and quality standards, produce water suited to farm

The D.A. Column

by Doug Walkey
542-5368

use in good quality and produce at least one gallon per minute.

To be eligible the applicant must be a "bonafide" farmer or rancher. I don't make these rules but here is a direct quote from their guideline:

"Individuals whose major source of income is not farming, and who carry out "minor farming activities" with no reasonable expectation of profit, are NOT ELIGIBLE."

Applicants must contact PFRA before they begin development of their water source. This is a new rule this year and should be noted.

The actual financial assistance will vary with each project. The basis will be "one-third of eligible costs or specified unit cost allowances (whichever is less) to a maximum of $1,650 per project".

If you are interested in more detailed information contact our office, or better yet, PFRA at 349-3963 in Westlock.

Wildwood news

Hoffman installed as exalted ruler of the Elks

By Hazel Winfield
325-3956

The Wildwood Elks and OORP held joint installation of officers May 16 in the Wildwood Community Centre.

The patrol team from Sherwood Park acted as the drill team for the installation. Officers for the Elks are: Exalted Ruler, Ron Hoffman; past Exalted Ruler, Ernie Russell; leading knight, James Akers; loyal knight, Clare Stone; lecturing knight, Bob Thompson; secretary-treasurer, Art Cherknick; trustee, Fred Willets; esquire, Mark Thompson; inner guard, Ernie Russell; tiler, Paul Lemishka; chaplain, Wallace Sherry; publicity director, Niek Myschuk and historian, William Hewins.

Officers for the Royal Purple are: Honored Royal Lady, Hazel Winfield; past Honored Lady, Audree Paulson; associate royal lady, Caroline Russell; loyal lady, Karen Arnell; lecturing lady, Edna Coppi; secretary, Lynda Akers; treasurer, Hazel Monty; outer guard, Eva Karimian; inner guard, Pat Bibeau; third-year trustee, June He; conductress, Eleanor Nero; chaplain, Anna Vankosky and pianist, Heather McTavish.

Members from other lodges were from Hinton, Edson, Gainsford, Ledoux, Spruce Grove and Sherwood Park and guests from Wildwood.

Edith Lynch has returned from a month visiting relatives and friends in Manitoba.

Terry Reid was home for a few days. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Finer (Yvonne Callioux) who were married May 25. The banquet and dance were held in the Wildwood Community Centre.

Visiting at Abbie and Hazel Winfields were daughter Joan and husband Nester Baranowski and son Pat and granddaughter and husband Rich Letourneau and family, all of Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bills had son Len Williamson and wife from Port St. John, B.C. visiting over the weekend.

The ladies of the Royal Purple will hold a strawberry tea June 6 (Royal Purple Day) at the Senior Citizens' Complex from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The senior citizens met in the centre May 22 at 2 p.m. A representative from Casual Tours showed a film on the Alaska tour. Plans were made for the seniors to have an aerobic moon walk May 27 at the centre.

The Wildwood ladies' ball team played in Edmonton the weekend of May 25 and 26. They came home with fourth prize.

The play school had an open house May 23. They have many beautiful toys and books, which were made available by donations, bake sales and bottle drives.

Mary Russell appreciated all the useful gifts, thoughtfulness and kindness shown by everyone after they lost their home and contents by fire.

Town promotional film planned

The town of Drayton Valley is taking a serious look at having a promotional film made.

Council decided to proceed with interviews upon the receipt of two bids last week.

According to town manager Manny Deol there is money in the budget for the project, recommended by the economic development committee.

The cost is expected to be around $20,000.

The town would like to see shooting of the film get underway this summer with more shooting of spring and winter scenes later in the year.

Lumber store coming

A new lumber store being built by Terry Drader is still about a month away.

He said they were trying to put in the concrete but the rain last weekend slowed them down a bit. The business will be located next to the Poplar Ridge store.

He will be stocking lumber, hardware and steel once the store is open, he explained. There will also be some selection of finished woods, he added.

Rec board considers changes to craft show

The annual Parkland Handicraft Show may be dropped or its format may be changed next year, the assistant director of County Parks and Recreation suggested.

Randy Strocki asked members of the Parks and Recreation board for their reaction to a number of options he proposed for the show.

The options were being proposed, he said, because the department is not happy about the number of people it is reaching through the handicraft show.

The 145 participants at the 1985 show were an increase of only two over the previous year.

The pieces of work submitted were down to 202 from 278 in 1984.

The 100 people who attended the show's opening ceremonies this year represented half the number who attended last year.

In 1985, 23 categories were either not entered or the entries submitted were not awarded prizes by the judges.

The winner in other categories don't change that much from year to year, Strocki said.

The show must therefore be evaluated in terms of cost-effectiveness.

Strocki said two department staff members spend a large percentage of their time between mid-December and the end of March working on the show.

He asked board members whether staff should be spending this time doing other things, given the response and participation in the show.

The department has an ongoing concern the show might result in a financial deficit, Strocki said.

The hidden costs, such as mailing, are already being picked up by the department's budget.

Strocki asked board members whether the time and money put into the show should be channelled into offering courses or workshops in order to serve the community culturally.

The options he proposed for the show included continuing with the same format used in 1985, using the same format but holding the show at a different time of year or dropping the show altogether.

The show could be dropped but workshops offered for craft guilds and other interested groups, he suggested.

Another option is holding juried shows for individual craft disciplines.

The department could also decide to keep the handicraft show the same and offer workshops as well.

Changing the judging procedure is another option, Strocki said.

Approximately 60 per cent of the participants in the handicraft show are town residents, he said.

County Councillor George Sewell questioned, in that case, whether it was worth continuing to support the show.

When a project of this nature "funders", he said, it was probably an indication the "statement of mission" should be reviewed.

On the basis of the workshops offered at agrifairs, indications are workshops don't draw out a lot of new people, Sewell said.

Trish Law, department staff member, said there "are lots of good craft people out there but we're not seeing them."

The judges have "really looked down on some of the work (which has been entered in the show)."

Ground work started this week on the new Tomahawk and district Agra complex. Construction will follow shortly.

Crossbow Construction of Spruce Grove will erect a shell and club members will complete the work, due to a shortage of funds.

Thanks to all the contractors for their time and effort in submitting bids.

Plans are in full swing for the community's July 1 celebrations.

Arlaine Monaghan, board member from Division 1, suggested getting some of the people together who would be affected by a decision to drop the show and discussing the options.

The handicraft show should be regarded as an opportunity to recognize individual activity in the county — to recognize the work of people who don't join groups, Monaghan said.

Coun. Carl Baron said the board and department might be expecting too much from the show.

West Area Co-ordinator Ed Haykowski agreed with Baron and said the show should be reduced in size to include only those categories with the most participation.

The board will receive a final report, review of the evaluations from participants and recommendations for future shows at a subsequent meeting.

APPLICATION FOR SCHOOL BUS OPERATION

The Board of Education of the County of Leduc No. 25 invites applications for a 1979 G.M.C. 66 passenger (Bluebird body) school bus. This bus may be seen at the residence of Donald Martin, S.E. 3-50-6-W5th (approximately 3/4 of a mile west of Berrybrook).

Applicants must have a Class "2" Alberta Operator's License, or equivalent, and must possess a reputable character and good driving record. A current First Aid Certificate would be a definite asset.

Applications, together with names of at least two reliable references, and an abstract of your driving record, should be submitted to the undersigned not later than 4:00 p.m. on June 19, 1985.

The Board reserves the right to accept or reject any application.

Summer camp

Youth program stresses leadership skills

By Bev Brooks
District Home Economist

"Take a Break...Co-operate" is the theme for the 1985 REDA (Rural Education and Development Association) Youth Program.

Any young person between the ages of 13 and 19 is eligible to attend these REDA Youth Camps. The program has been active since 1981, and is held at the beautiful setting of Goldeye Lake Centre. Thousands of young people have attended the program resulting in a tradition of learning, personal development and enjoyable experiences. The centre is nine kilometres west of the Nordegg junction on the David Thompson Highway (west of Rocky Mountain House).

The theme, "Take a Break...Co-operate" indicates that the program offers a chance to develop leadership, communication and interpersonal skills, as well as explore agricultural, co-operative and community systems and issues.

These summer camps are offered at three different levels:

1. Teen seminars (13 and 14 years) - choose from three sessions: July 9-15, July 21-27 and Aug. 2-8.
2. Youth seminars (15 to 17 years) - choose between two sessions: July 15-21, July 27-Aug. 2.

Pitch-In and Keep
Canada
Beautiful

3. Grad seminar (18 to 19 years) - one session only: July 2-9 (applicants must have participated in a previous youth seminar or similar program.)

The camps are sponsored by various agricultural groups and organizations who pay a large part of the registration fee.

For more information, brochures and sponsor contacts stop by my office at Alberta Agriculture or phone 542-5368. Application deadline is at least two weeks before the camp and preferably by June 8. Bus transportation will be provided to Goldeye Lake Centre from central pick up points.

Social Services

Child welfare legislation training begun

Child Welfare staff from the Drayton Valley sub-district office of Social Services and Community Health have begun a series of intensive training sessions on Alberta's new Child Welfare legislation.

The Child Welfare Act, to be implemented July 1, 1985, will direct the department's development and delivery of services to children and families.

Drayton Valley staff, attending six-day training sessions at the region's child welfare training centre in Spruce Grove, are studying the intent and expected impact of the new Act.

Described by Premier Peter Lougheed as the most significant implementation project of the Department of Social Services and Community Health for the next decade, the Act is based on several principles.

The Act is family-focused and child-centred in content and spirit. Protective services are provided when a child's security or development is endangered.

The family's responsibility for the care and supervision of the child is recognized — families are the basic unit of society and should be supported and preserved. Removal of a child from the family will occur only when less-intrusive measures prove insufficient for the child's survival, security or development.

Community support services play a vital role. Community resources will be used to help children and their families to keep the department's intervention to a minimum.

Service by child welfare workers will be offered with as little intrusion as possible. Children won't have to be removed from the family to receive services.

Although the Act recognizes a family's right to privacy, it also recognizes that a child's interests need to be protected. The child's guardian will be more involved in the care of the child and the child's opinion will be considered. In fact, children 12 years-of-age or older will have to be consulted on their case decision. Children are valued as individuals in their own right.

Services to children will take into account the benefits to the child of maintaining, wherever possible, the child's cultural, social and religious heritage.

The Act introduces a number of major innovations to support these principles. A Children's Guardian position has been established to advocate on behalf of children in the child welfare system.

The Child Welfare Act reinforces structured case planning by social workers to plan, monitor and evaluate services provided to the child and the child's family.

Special consideration is given to Indian children. The Act provides for consultation with Band Council chiefs when native children are involved.

An appreciation of the strong contributions foster parents make to children in care of the department is reflected in the legislation through their formal involvement in case planning and court appearances.

Training for social workers will continue over the summer months in preparation for the Act's implementation July 1, 1985.

In Memorium

GEBHART, ROSS

April 11, 1959 - June 2, 1986

Ross, I would have done it all differently. I had known our meeting that day.

Was to be our last. I had known that this was it. I would have played it out properly.

I would have talked many memories & reliving the old. Making sure my last memories of you were the most powerful ones.

My most casual comments I would have catalogued to listen to later.

I had studied you while you weren't looking. Taking mental notes of each beautiful detail.

When you grabbed for my hand as we walked. I would have meant more to me. Than just something you had a habit of doing.

I've prolonged our parting. Our usual kiss goodbye and a quick "see you later".

Watching you leave, I'd have smiled & said how much I love you.

I instead, I dismissed you. Taking for granted you would be back as usual.

I met you and my love for you will never pass.

Love forever Your baby sister Billie Jo 1.23

Week of June 8-15

Bono's
astro-tue

By Lillian Bono *****

ARIES
(March 21-April 20) Don't overload on activities at the start of the week. Keep an open mind when making important decisions. You will be most effective during the earlier part of the day.

TAURUS
(April 21-May 21) Do not let frustration and boredom get you down. Recognize the signals that are directing you to move on. It is time to reassess your strengths and weaknesses.

GEMINI
(May 22-June 21) Do not try to find a way around your responsibilities. Keep your mind on your work. Your mind will tend to wander, but this is a critical time for you in your current position.

CANCER
(June 22-July 23) A stable and secure environment will be a source of comfort for you during the week. Allow yourself to unwind by pampering yourself.

LEO
(July 24-Aug. 23) Do not ignore signals of physical distress. Ask for an opinion from an expert. Your mate will be very supportive. It would be wise to reciprocate positive behavior.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24-Sept. 23) An opportunity will appear and seem to be the chance of a lifetime. Take the time to think carefully before making hasty decisions.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24-Oct. 23) Rely on those with whom you have placed your trust. Don't hesitate to make requests of close friends. The end of the week will pick up for you dramatically.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24-Nov. 23) Your bitter attitude must be eliminated if you want to start picking up some pieces. Allow yourself to have some fun. If you play your cards right, the weekend will be a pleasant change of pace.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't believe everything you read — investigate on your own when you have important questions. Don't push yourself too hard this week. Try to manage your time in a reasonable manner.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22-Jan. 20) You will feel significantly less burdened by Wednesday. Plan for light activity later in the week. Your weekend will include unusual but enjoyable activities.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21-Feb. 19) Watch out for careless mistakes. Take extra precautions with your work. You will begin to gain confidence after the new project you initiated is accepted.
